

Acknowledgements

This report has been compiled and edited by Mr. Richard H. Lewis of the Planning Division of the Wilmington District, U.S. Army Corps of Engineers from information gathered by various individuals from various institutions. All of the work was done under the direction of the Wilmington District, in cooperation with the North Carolina Division of Archives and History, Archeology and Historic Preservation Section (NCDAH). The historical background material and assessment of historical literature presented in Chapter 2 was prepared by Dr. Alan D. Watson, Department of History, University of North Carolina, Wilmington. The historic architecture information presented in Chapter 3 was prepared by Ms. Beth P. Thomas, Ms. Drucilla H. York, Ms. Barbara W. Howlett, and Ms. Renee Gledhill-Earley, all on the staff of the Archeology and Historic Preservation Section of NCDAH. The archeological information presented in Chapter 4 was prepared by Mr. Paul R. Green, East Carolina University, under the direction of Mr. Stephen R. Claggett. The Underwater Archeological Section was prepared by Mr. Mark Wilde-Ramsing of the Underwater Archeology Unit and Mr. Richard H. Kimmel of the Wilmington District. The various bibliographies (Appendices A-C) were provided by the authors named above, except the bibliography of Historic Source Material for Underwater Archeology which was completed by James A. Pleasants in 1980 for the Underwater Archeology Unit of NCDAH. The site lists, found in appendices D-F were compiled by Richard H. Lewis from the state site files (Cultural Resource Evaluation Programs), the National Register of Historic Places, and from David Stick's Graveyard of the Atlantic (1952).

Many people provided various degrees of indirect support for this study either through review, technical advice, or by providing managerial, administrative, or clerical support. Review and technical advice were provided by Mr. Richard Lawrence of the Underwater Archeology Unit at Ft. Fisher, Mr. Mark Mathis of the Archeology Branch, and Ms. Catherine Bishir of the Survey Branch. Managerial support was provided by Mr. W. Coleman Long II, Mr. Richard M. Jackson, Mr. John Meshaw, and Mr. Lawrence Saunders of the Wilmington District and by Ms. Renee Gledhill-Earley of the N.C. Division of Archives and History. Clerical support was received from Ms. Sondra Ward of NCDAH and Ms. Deborah Rowell of the Wilmington District, both of whom typed various sections of this report. The overall administration of this study was provided by Colonel Wayne A. Hanson, District Engineer, Wilmington District and Dr. William S. Price Jr., North Carolina State Historic Preservation Officer and Director, North Carolina Division of Archives and History.